SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Here's a quick look at the three Apollo 8 astronauts: Apollo Commander Frank Borman, 40, a veteran of the American space program, said jokingly in a preflight interview that he and his crew are "the last of the good guys."

However jokingly he intended, the harmonious conversational exchanges between ground crew sharply contrasted with the volatile Apollo 7 forerunner commanded by Walter M. Schirra.

Graduated eighth in a 1950 class of 670 at the U.S. Military Academy, Borman pursued an aviation career plagued by medical problems that threatened repeatedly to ground him for life. He overcame them and was named in the September, 1962, group of astronauts.

He is an Air Force Colonel. Calm, precise and deeply religious, Borman married his high school sweetheart from Tucson, Ariz., a blue-eyed blonde named Susan. They have two sons, Frederick, 17, and Edwin, 15.

Borman and Apollo space-mate James A. Lovell Jr., named the 14-day Gemini 7 flight. Prior to the Apollo 8 mission, they had 755 combined hours in space, more than the entire Soviet cosmonaut corps.

Command module pilot Lovell, also 40, was originally the back-up pilot for Michael Collins, who was forced out of the moon flight by a bone spur in his neck.

"I really came aboard with mixed emotions..." he said in a preflight news briefing.

A Navy captain, Lovell graduated from the Naval Academy in 1952 and was in his fourth year as a naval test pilot when the astronaut selection began in 1959.

He was passed over for the first group but reapplied and was accepted.

Born in Cleveland, raised in Milwaukee, Lovell, like Borman, married his high school sweetheart, Marilyn Gerlach of Milwaukee. The Lovells have four children: Barbara, 15; James, 13; Susan, 10; and Jeffrey, 2.

Lovell was named by President Johnson to the Council on Physical Fitness, but says he now is only a "lame duck" consultant. He enjoys the reputation of crew comic.

Besides Gemini 7, Lovell commanded the final Gemini flight, the four-day Gemini 12. He is how the most travelled astronaut in the world.

Lunar module pilot William A. Anders, on the other hand, is, at 35, a space rookie.

Like Lovell, he attended the Naval Academy, but chose the Air Force as a career. He is a major. Anders also attended the Air Force Institute of Technology at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio and graduated with a master of science degree in nuclear engineering.

Both knowledgeable and eloquent, Anders says except for his friend Jack Riley, a NASA public affairs officer, "I guess I'm the best fisherman in the world. He (Jack) can talk them out of the water."

Anders is the son of "an old Navy battleship man" and was born in Hong Kong while his father was executive officer on the gunboat Panay cruising the rivers of China.

He and his wife, Valerie, of Lemon Grove, Calif., have five children: Alan, 11; Glen, 10; Gayle, 8; Gregory, 6; and Eric, 4.

Asked his family's reaction to the moon flight, Anders replied: "...They of course are enthused, as I am, about my opportunity to participate in this adventure." He added, however, that "They're a little bit disappointed that I'm going to be gone during Christmas."

It Was High Price to Pay

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Jesus H. Guevara, who lost the vision in both eyes, his left arm below the elbow and part of his right hand after a grenade exploded near him in Vietnam, became a U.S. citizen Monday. "Maybe it was a high price to pay," the 21-year-old native of Mexico said, "but I believe I have earned my U.S. citizenship. I have fought for America alongside Americans, and I think any American would agree that I am deserving of the same rights just as if I had been born here."

Guevara was brought in an ambulance from Brooke Army Medical Center to the federal building for the citizenship ceremony.

"I have been waiting 13 years for this day," he said after U.S. District Judge Adrian A. Sreene

Welcome Home Party Brings Gifts—and Astronauts' Wives

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL, Associated Press Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — All the guests invited to a hen party at a rookie astronaut's home Thursday night brought goodies—except the wives of the three Apollo 8 astronauts. They brought themselves and it was demonstration enough that all was well.

The waiting was nearly over for Mrs. Frank Borman, Mrs. James A. Lovell Jr. and Mrs. William A. Anders. Their husbands had hurdled a half dozen critical barriers on a round trip to the moon.

All that remained was the crucial re-entry.

Thursday night the three wives were together for the first time since long before the Dec. 21 launch. They went to a party at the home of Fred Wallace Halse Jr., who was the backup for Jim Lovell on this flight.

"Having a big celebration tomorrow night?" someone asked. "You just bet we will," said Mrs. Borman, her face beaming.

The Apollo 8 wives, like most of the astronaut wives, carried their seven-day ordeal well.

Instead of shutting themselves off from the world as their husbands faced unprecedented dangers, they shopped, went to church and got together with friends.

The strain showed in their faces on the morning of the launch, when there were two fingernail-biting times—the launch itself on the world's biggest rocket and the maneuver that put the spacecraft on a path to the moon.

But Thursday night all that was gone. Their smiles, as they posed for photographs, were wide and genuine.

Christmas Eve, while her husband was on his last orbit around the moon, Marilyn Lovell took out egg nog and cookies to newsmen waiting to record her Christmas.

Later she walked around her neighborhood where the lights of Christmas cast a soft glow over the streets. This was only minutes before the space crew—behind the moon and out of communication—fired the big engine to get out of moon orbit. It was the worst time of all, because without that engine firing the astronauts would have been doomed to circle the moon.

All three wives said that engine firing was their best Christmas present.

Obituaries

LARRY WAYNE YATES

Funeral services for Larry Yates will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Herndon Chapel with Rev. C. C. Truitt officiating. Burial will be in Memory Gardens under the direction of Herndon Funeral Home of Hope.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Yates of Hope; one sister, Mrs. Henry Marcell of DeRidder, La., his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Evans of Hope and Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Yates of Clarks-ville.

ELMER DeVORE

Elmer DeVore, 56, died early Friday morning in a local hospital following a train-car accident at Emmet.

He had been a resident of Hope for the past eight years and was an employee of Memorial Hospital and a Methodist.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Wynette DeVore of Emmet; one brother William of Warren, Pa.; four sisters; Mrs. Bertha Eckman of Jamestown, N.Y.; Mrs. Nora Bedwell, Mrs. Ella Gower and Mrs. Christi Byer, all of Pennsylvania.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Oakcrest Chapel with Rev. Everett Vinson officiating. The body will be returned to Florence, Texas for interment, Oakcrest Funeral Home of Hope in charge of arrangements.

Electronics Success Key of Flight

H By HOWARD BENEDICT, AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Heading home from their fantastic moon voyage, the Apollo 8 astronauts dashed today toward man's hottest and fastest dive through the earth's atmosphere and a pre-dawn landing in the Pacific Ocean.

Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders reach the blazing climax to their ring-around-the-moon mission at 10:37 a. m. EST when Apollo 8 slams into the earth's thickening atmosphere 400,000 feet above the Pacific Ocean.

The spaceship hits this barrier at 24,700 miles per hour, 7,000 miles faster than any previous man-in-space re-entry. Just nine minutes later the craft plunges under three huge parachutes, dropping down at a snail's pace of 22 m. p. h.

Splashdown is scheduled for 10:51 a. m. about 1,450 miles southwest of Hawaii. A recovery force of ships, planes and helicopters, headed by the carrier Yorktown, waits to retrieve the space heroes.

Borman, Lovell and Anders are to make the first darkness landing for a U.S. spacecraft. It will be 4:51 a. m., 45 minutes before first light in the recovery zone.

Helicopters will fly immediately to the floating craft. Unless there is an emergency, frogmen will not drop into the water until first light. Navy officials said the swimmers operate much more efficiently in daylight and the shark danger would be less.

As they neared their triumphant homecoming, the astronauts were on a perfect course, aiming for a narrow corridor in which Apollo 8 would be blistered by re-entry temperatures up to 5,000 degrees.

They've been on target since they fired themselves out of moon orbit early Wednesday and started the 33,000-mile return trip in which their speed gradually increased from 3,600 m. p. h. as earth's gravity exerted a greater and greater influence.

With their early in-flight illnesses gone and the 20-hour moon orbit segment behind them, Borman, Lovell and Anders were noticeably more relaxed as they shot into the final 24 hours of the mission.

They talked of coming home, joked with ground controllers and even waxed a little poetic.

"It has been a fantastic voyage," Anders reported.

Televising a picture of his home planet, the shimmering half-disc he left six days before, Anders commented: "I must have the feeling that the travelers in the old sailing days used to have. I have that feeling of being proud of the trip and still happy to be going back home and back to our home port."

"We're sure looking forward to home," Lovell said.

"We're looking forward to having you back," replied the Mission Control communicator.

As Apollo 8 telecast its sixth and final show, Borman promised that future Apollo astronauts would beam TV from the desolate surface itself.

"This is Apollo 8 signing off," he said. "We'll see you back on the good earth very soon."

The astronauts planned to remain on the Yorktown for a day, primarily for medical checks, Saturday they are to fly off the carrier to Hawaii and transfer to a larger plane for a flight to Ellington Air Force Base, only a half-hour drive from their homes near the Space Center.

Their families plan to greet them when they land at Ellington at 5 a. m. Sunday—and for a day at least they'll have time for a belated Christmas celebration.

After that they'll begin extensive debriefings on their historic mission, in which they circled the moon 10 times in 20 hours and paved the way for other astronauts to land there sometime next year.

Experts will probe them carefully on the performance of the huge Saturn 5 that rocketed them out of this world Dec. 21, the Apollo 8 spaceship that performed magnificently through the six days, their flu-like illnesses early in the flight, and, of course, the moon itself.

Udall to Try Unseating of House Chief

b By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST, Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Morris K. Udall's startling challenge to the House Democratic leadership was welcomed by liberal-moderates today, but he faces a stiff battle to unseat Speaker John W. McCormack.

Udall, in announcing Thursday he was after 77-year-old McCormack's job, said he had reached the decision without lining up any prior backing or consulting with the liberal-moderate leadership.

Several members of the liberal-moderate Democratic Study Group, a largely informal alliance of some 140 members, including Udall, said they were surprised by the four-term Arizona congressman's announcement.

"His chances are very good. He's very popular personally and he's very articulate. But it depends entirely on what the one's in the middle do," said a source aligned with the DSG.

There was a feeling among others, however, that Udall's pledge to call for other nominations if he unseats McCormack on the first ballot was the strongest factor going for him.

The belief is that a Northern or Western liberal wouldn't stand a chance against the speaker from Massachusetts, but that many members dissatisfied with McCormack would go for such a candidate if they thought it was a gimmick that could lead eventually to election of their own man.

First test of Udall's strength will come by secret ballot at the Democratic caucus Jan. 2. The nominee of the caucus will be presented to the full House when it convenes Jan. 3. Since the Democrats hold the majority 243 to 192 their choice is a sure thing.

Although there has been talk of trying to unseat McCormack, speaker since 1961, some liberal-moderates have said that attempts to alter the rigid seniority system and seize some committee chairmanships from conservatives would take precedence in the new Congress.

In announcing his decision to make the race, the 46-year-old Udall, brother of Interior Secretary Stewart Udall, said he would construe a first-ballot defeat for the McCormack "not as a decision that I should be Speaker" but only "a vote that a change is desired."

A caucus contest, he said in letters to colleagues, need not split the party but "should strengthen us in the House and in the country at large."

McCormack's backers, who include powerful committee members and deans of some of the larger state delegations, are not "running scared." They put Udall's top strength at 50 votes.

Udall said his decision to oppose McCormack, "is mine and mine alone. I am the candidate of no individual member or group of members."

The challenge to McCormack, veteran of 40 years in the House, is unprecedented in modern history. Never before has an incumbent Speaker of either party faced a contest for reelection to that powerful position. There have been several occasions when a party leader was ousted, but not when his party was in control of the House.

One incumbent Speaker, Joe Cannon of Illinois, was stripped of much of his power by colleagues dissatisfied with his dictatorial tactics. But he didn't lose his job or his gavel.

They'll quiz the astronauts about any scientific knowledge the trio may have gained about the features, whether craters were formed by meteorite impact or volcano.

There will be questions about variations in orbital path as Apollo 8 circled the moon at an altitude of 70 miles, and if these were caused by large concentrations of material buried beneath the surface.

Also, the geologists will want to know if the moon has a weak atmosphere and what the hidden backside looks like.

But most of all, NASA officials will ask them about navigating and attempts to land. Preliminary reports from Apollo 8 indicated it was relatively easy to navigate and locate landmarks on the surface.

Confidence in Pueblo Crew Is Expressed on Eve of Investigation

By FRED S. HOFFMAN, AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chief of naval operations, says "I'm not going to prejudge" whether the officers and men of the U.S. intelligence-gathering ship Pueblo conducted themselves properly while held captive by North Korea.

At least two admirals have referred publicly to Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, the Pueblo's skipper, and the other 81 surviving crew members as heroes.

"Some people have expressed personal opinions," Moorer acknowledged when asked about this in an interview. He indicated he was not criticizing them.

The Navy's top admiral insisted expression of personal opinions by high ranking officers will not impair a Navy court of inquiry's ability to reach an objective judgment.

Moorer said "I am confident" the Pueblo did not enter North Korea's claimed territorial waters.

If the ship had done so, Bucher would have been violating his sailing orders to stay at least 13 miles clear of North Korean territory.

A Navy court of inquiry at San Diego under Vice Adm. H.G. Bowen probably will open proceedings in two weeks after the recuperating crew has had some leave.

Pacific Fleet commander Adm. John G. Hyland, who will review the findings of the court, told the Pueblo's crewmen earlier this week that "you are regarded as a group of young heroes."

Rear Adm. Edwin M. Rosenberg has spoken of Bucher as "a hero among heroes."

Among other things, the court will consider whether the crew men lived up to the code of conduct which specifies how American military men shall handle themselves when prisoners of a hostile nation.

A key section of the code states that:

"When questioned, should I become a prisoner of war, I am bound to give only name, rank, service number, and date of birth. I will evade answering further questions to the utmost of my ability. I will make no oral or written statements disloyal to my country and its allies or harmful to their cause."

This code was drawn up in 1955 following instances in the Korean war in which Americans signed statements critical of their country while imprisoned in North Korea.

There were several occasions when the North Koreans released film and tape recordings of Pueblo crewmen allegedly confessing to espionage and aggression.

In one such film, Bucher was recorded as admitting the Pueblo was well within the North Korean territorial sea limits.

In a news conference after being freed, Bucher told newsmen he had surrendered the Pueblo to avoid useless bloodshed. He also said the alleged confessions were made to "save some people from some very serious misfortunes."

Bucher had said the North Koreans had beaten and terrorized crew members. Moorer has said the Navy court will go into a wide range of matters in the Pueblo case. He declined to discuss details, saying, "I couldn't anticipate what the president of the court will do."

Will Try for Break-Through at Peace Talks

By LEWIS GULICK, Associated Press Writer
PARIS (AP) — Cyrus R. Vance's impending return to Paris raised expectations today of a new U.S. move to break the long deadlock delaying the Vietnam peace talks.

Vance, due back tonight, has been the U.S. negotiator in the talks with the North Vietnamese on the shape of the conference and other procedural issues blocking the start of the expanded conference.

During Vance's consultations Christmas week with President Johnson, President-elect Nixon and other U.S. leaders, the U.S.-North Vietnamese talks lapsed into a holiday lull while the rival Vietnamese delegations stood firm in their entrenched public positions.

Despite anticipation that Vance might be returning with new proposals, some diplomats are saying privately they expect no substantial progress of any sort until after Nixon is inaugurated, his administration makes its ideas known in Paris, and the various Vietnamese delegations assess these ideas.

Vance, a Johnson appointee, has agreed to stay on about a month after the Jan. 20 inauguration to ease the transition. Nixon has yet to name a successor to the present U.S. delegation head, W. Averell Harriman, who is quitting the negotiations next month.

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegations emerged Thursday from the Christmas intermission with new moves in their campaign for recognition of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

A joint communique said the start of the peace talks was being blocked by the refusal of the U.S. and Saigon governments "to recognize the Front as an independent and equal party to the conference."

The communique said to get the parity going, the U.S. and Saigon delegations "must immediately sit" at the round table demanded by North Vietnam and the Viet Cong.

Ushers will be college students from the church membership, and the choir will be filled with both college and high school youth. Miss Tommi Lou Watson will present special music.

Also a part of the day's activities will be open house held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Tom Watson in Southland Heights. The students are urged to call during the hours from 2 to 5 p.m. for refreshments and fellowship.

Best Performance

Car engines run best when warm, yet need a cooling system because gasoline combustion engines produce tremendous heat. Only about 15 of the fuel's heat energy is utilized. Half the waste heat escapes through the exhaust, the other through the cooling system. The correct concentration of anti-freeze-coolant is therefore vital to the best operation of the car's cooling system. Most cooling systems give the best performance with 33 to 65 per cent of antifreeze in the coolant; 50 per cent gives near maximum protection for both winter and summer.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Unlikely as it may seem, Jonathan Winters seems to be a much more amusing fellow in the early evening that in the later part. It may work out that CBS's "Jonathan Winters Show" got the better part of the deal in the time swap with "Hawaii Five-O."

The variety hour had its premiere in the earlier Thursday period, and its star had some very funny turns, one at the top of the show when he was extemporaneously answering questions from the audience and later when he was playing a very drunken liquor inspector in a sketch.

For a windup there was a refreshing sequence when our round-shouldered hero gathered around him members of Roy Rogers and Dale Evans family—and their assembled children, children's spouses and grandchildren seemed larger even than the King family—to tell the story of Hansel and Gretel. He did such a terrible job that he was roundly booed by the kiddies at the end—a nice change of pace after all the lovable, well-rehearsed story-tellers to whom we have been exposed of recent date.

The hour contained another especially bright number—a quick review in comedy blackouts of some major events of the year. It encompassed France's money troubles with De Gaulle spoof, it made a joke about the hijacking of airliners—a Castro-like creature was shown sticking a gun at Santa's head and ordering his sleigh south. And it even took in the Onassis-Kennedy wedding—there was Winters in a little Lord Fauntleroy suit standing on a pier and shouting through a bull horn in the direction of a large yacht anchored nearby: "Can Caroline and John come out and play?"

One can only regret that the show—which apparently has dropped some of the more cumbersome features, has not yet figured out what to do with one of its regulars, Cliff Arquette, who can be a wild and inventive comic.

"Hawaii Five-O," which took over Winters' old spot last Wednesday night, continues to be another stereotyped cops-and-robbers story with only those lush island location shots to give it any distinction.

Ed McMahon, with his own daytime game show, his nighttime announcing chores on the Johnny Carson show, commercials to make and a number of outside activities unrelated to show business, has taken on another job that would be a full-time occupation for most men. At the request of Gen. Emmet

Candlelight Service at Presbyterian

The annual Christmas Candlelight Service was held at First Presbyterian church on Sunday evening, December 22. The program featured a Christmas devotional service, special Christmas music and annual joy gift offering which benefits retired servants of the church.

The devotional service, "Let Every Heart Prepare Him Room," was presented as a choral reading by members of the Senior High Class with the anthem by the Youth Choir. Crit Stuart III served as narrator. Following the reception of the Joy Gift offering, the Chancel Choir presented an anthem "Sing Alleluia, Christ Is Born". Haskell Jones read Longfellow's poem, "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day". Mrs. Haskell Jones sang the traditional "O Holy Night".

Following a period of silent meditation and a hymn, the congregation was dismissed with the benediction by Rev. James E. Sewell, minister.

Watch Night Service at Tabernacle

The First Assembly of God church is planning a watch night service for Dec. 31. The services will begin at 8:00 p.m. and the evening will be filled with special music and songs and sermons.

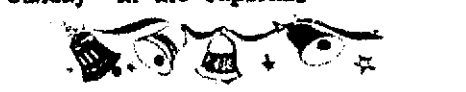

Rev. H. Grant from Ashdown with his congregation will be ministering in sermon and songs. Rev. Bobo and his congregation from Lewisville will also be ministering in the service. A water baptismal service is planned and a time of fellowship and refreshments followed at midnight with a communion service.

The church and pastor, Rev. C. C. Truitt, invite the public to worship at this watch-night service.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. LEO P. HENRY

Miss Wanda Fern Dixon and Mr. Leo Patrick Henry exchanged nuptial vows in a candlelight ceremony in the First Baptist Church, Hope, Arkansas on Thursday, December 26, 1968. Dr. Lory Hildreth, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Texarkana, Texas, performed the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Thomas Dixon of Hope. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Leo Henry of Texarkana, Texas.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Hendrix Spraggins, organist, who accompanied Mrs. Diane Smiley of Texarkana, Texas as she sang "O Perfect Love" and "Wedding Prayer".

The couple exchanged vows in a setting of candlelight and holly. A graceful arch of candles was flanked by six candelabrum entwined with holly. Family pews were marked with bows of gold velvet.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white peau de sole fashioned with an empire waist and long pointed sleeves. Appliques of lace enhanced by tiny seed pearls graced the gown and the chapel train. A crown of pearls secured the veil of tulle. Her bouquet was a white orchid surrounded by white roses.

Miss Marcia Bowden of Santa Clara, California, was maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Miss Geneva Ray of Texarkana, Texas. They wore identical floor length gowns of deep gold crepe in a semi-fitted A-line style. Each attendant carried a long stemmed golden wave rose with a cascade of gold streamers.

Jack Henry of Texarkana, Texas served as his brother's best man. Gayle Dixon, brother of the bride, was groomsmen. Ushers were LaVaughn Cook, Bobby Flanagan, and Jimmy Howell.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Dixon chose a pink silk suit accented with pearl buttons. Her accessories were silver gray. Mrs. Henry wore a beige knit dress. Her accessories were black. Both wore corsages of cymbidium orchids.

A reception was held in the church immediately following the ceremony. Guests were greeted by Mrs. Henry Haynes, Miss Louise Price and Mrs. Bobby Flanagan, sister of the groom, served the tiered wedding cake decorated with nosegays of golden wave roses. Miss Margie Higgs presided at the punch bowl. The table was covered with a white satin cloth caught at intervals with clusters of white grapes. A centerpiece of golden wave roses was flanked by two silver candelabrum. Mrs. Archie Cook, cousin of the bride, presided at the guest book. Rice bags were distributed by Sandra Lea Cook, cousin of the bride, and Brenda Flanagan, niece of the groom. Other members of the house party were Mrs. J. T. Bowden, Mrs. John Moore, Mrs. Paul Huddleston, and Mrs. Jack Henry.

For travel the bride chose a navy coat and dress ensemble. Her accessories were also navy. The bride pinned the white orchid from her wedding bouquet at her shoulder.

After their wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Texarkana, Texas.

Living Costs Continue Sharp Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs rose another four-tenths of one per cent last month, continuing the sharpest price spiral since 1951, the government reported today.

Although grocery prices dropped five-tenths of one per cent in November, sharp increases for housing, clothing, transportation and medical care pushed the Labor Department's consumer price index up to 123.4.

The index figure means it cost $12.34 in November for every $10 worth of typical family purchases in the 1957-59 base period.

The price index rose 4.8 per cent during the first 11 months of 1968 and Asst. Commissioner Arnold Chase of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said the 1968 rise will probably wind up at about that level.

This would be the largest increase in consumer prices since the 5.9 increase in 1951 during the Korean war.

SHOWBEAT

By DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — The camera moved in closer, focusing on the couple sleeping on the heart-shaped bed. The girl, delectable in a shortie nightgown, was beautiful Anne Francis. The boy was Don Knotts.

Don Knotts?

Yes—Don Knotts. The broomstick-shaped comedian, the nervous wreck who walks like a man, the vertical quiver. He's gone romantic in his new film, "The Love God."

Of course, it's all in fun. One look at the set proves it. Take the bed—heart-shaped, with a red velvet headboard festooned with hearts and bearing two gold cupids rampant. A brasserie dangles from one of the cupids. Smack in the middle of the headboard is a big black sign labeled "Scoreboard," divided in 14 innings.

Knotts wakes up slowly, stretches—and his hand touches the soft, silky shoulder of the girl in the next pillow. Knotts does one of his takes—and everybody breaks up.

This story is his own idea, and Nat Hiken took it from there. It's about a publisher of a bird-watching magazine who is conned into becoming—well, Hugh Hefner better look to his laurels. Hiken is directing, too, and this is his first feature film.

He had never worked with Knotts before and is lavish in his praise of the comedian.

"He's such a great actor," Hiken says. "You could do 'Hamlet' with him."

When the scene was over, Anne threw a robe over her little nightgown and said she doesn't mind this kind of bedroom scene—it was actually very modest and done strictly for laughs—but draws the line at some things offered her.

"I turned down one at MGM," she says, "because it meant stripping. It would have been a good check, but

STITCHIN' TIME

By JUDY LOVE

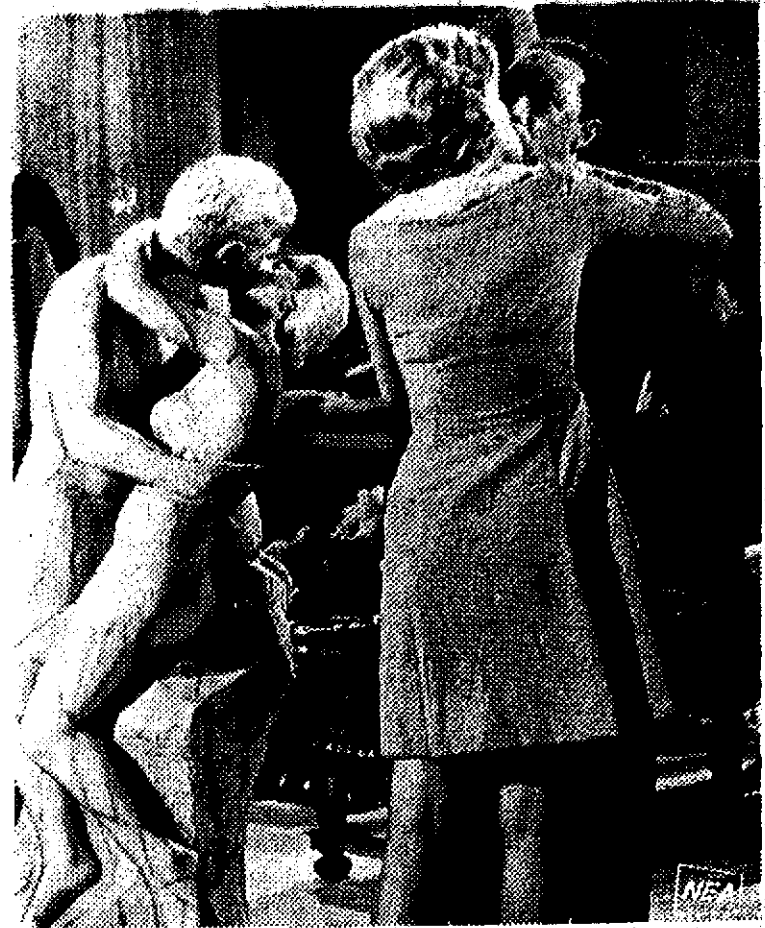

Winter is the season when most knitters keep themselves in stitches. It's a good time, too, to knit for spring and resort wear.

The newsmakers from French and American fashion centers say that the transparent look is in. The new transparency is translated into soft, semisheer fabrics such as voiles, dotted Swiss, dimity and organza. Lacy looks will play an important role for spring, and that's great news for knitters.

The styles I'm showing today have trim, tailored silhouettes, perfect shaping for a lacy, peek-a-bow texture. The sweaters are knitted in Bernat's Glenspun yarn, a crisp blend of Irish linen and cotton. The yarn has its own built-in texture that knits so nicely into the tiny openwork pattern.

The V-neck pullover can be knitted for either a man or a woman. How about that? All you do to make the distinction is to sew the neck band in proper place. For a woman's style, the right band should cross over the left band at the center front; for a man, it's just the reverse. Knitting instructions also tell you how to knit the topper with short or long sleeves.

For your youngster, knit the same pattern stitch into classic T-shirt styling. The youngster's design is a lightweight pullover with a s y

THE COUPLE ON THE RIGHT is Anne Francis and Don Knotts. Pair at left unidentified. But all four figure prominently in the comedy, "The Love God," in which Knotts—would you believe it?—plays the title role.

I said no. I couldn't have looked my little girl in the eye if I did it."

She talked about "Funny Girl," the Barbra Streisand film in which she had a good part—until they began chipping it away, bit by bit. What's left is just an unimportant bit role.

"I have no feud with Barbra," she said. "But doing that picture was like 'Gaslight.' What infuriated me was the way they did things—never telling me, never talking to me, just cutting. I think they were afraid that if they were nice to me, Barbra would have been upset."

At lunch, Don Knotts relaxed in his trailer, his feet up on a pillow because he has circulation problems with his legs.

He was amused at doing a bedroom scene, and it made him recall his youth.

"I grew up," he says, "in a fundamentalist, backwoods religious area in West Virginia. Bedroom scenes? Some of my relatives wouldn't go to the movies at all—they thought it was sinful. But my mother was a free-thinker. She took me to the movies as a boy."

He says he learned his comedy from an older brother, who died when he was 30. Don says his brother took great delight in coming into the living room, when

For Firm Neck Muscles

Here's one good way to keep those neck muscles firm. Breathe slowly and deeply. Slowly bring the head forward until the chin rests on the chest. Pause a moment in this position, then slowly raise the head and drop it backward until it rests on the nape of the neck. Repeat these forward and backward movements five times each way to start, increasing to 10 times or more later on.

January to See Bobcats Resume Play

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

January means the return to the scene for the Hope High School basketball teams, who today are concluding the first week of their thirteen-day layoff for the Christmas holidays.

Region 4-AA, which produced last year's State AA Champion in the Crossett Eagles, remains on the same format as last year for determining the four representatives to the state meet in Little Rock early in March. Following a double round-robin slate in the Eastern and Western divisions of 4-AA, the respective standings will be used to seed the twelve schools for District Tourney. The four semifinalists in that event move on to the State Championships, and 4-AA has a good contender for the throne in the Fairview Cardinals.

Last year the Cards won the Western Division crown in regular-season play, and made it all the way to the quarterfinals of the AA meet before being eliminated. Four starters and seven lettermen return from that outfit, and Coach Pat Foster is optimistic about his squad's chances.

Smackover's ever-present Buckaroos are the early choice of the Eastern Division, and this pick was enhanced by the Bucks' fine showing in a 56-53 loss to Fairview earlier this month.

The Bobcats' first 4-AA opponent will be the Magnolia Panthers next Friday evening at Magnolia, and the Panthers fortunes have been lessened after the loss of four starters from 1967.

All twelve teams in Region 4-AA will go under the microscope next week in this column, and at the end of the forecasting Hope's chances against the rest will be reviewed.

With a 3-5 record entering the holiday break, the Bobcats have taken advantage of the extra time for night scrimmaging. The squad's only injury, that head concussion suffered by Ronny Brown at Prescott last Tuesday, will not affect him enough to miss any game action.

KXAR is carrying the broadcasts of all the Arkansas Razorbacks' basketball games, and beginning tonight the Porkers will be participating in the Little Rock Classic. In the first round at 8:45 p.m. this evening the 4-3 Hogs match forces with 3-4 Texas-Arlington, a team whom Arkansas rapped 80-69 a few weeks ago.

Coach Duddy Waller brought back his entire first seven players from the 1967-68 unit that finished a satisfying 7-7 in SWC play, and with a four-game winning string the Razorbacks are favorites in this Little Rock Classic. The other two teams in the event are Centenary and Hardin-Simmons.

Jayhawks Are Close to 1,000 Wins

Just seven more and the Kansas Jayhawks will become the first college basketball team to win 1,000 games.

Led by Olympic star Jo Jo White, the once-beaten Jayhawks won their eighth straight and career No. 93 by whipping Nebraska 82-56 in the first round of the Big Eight Holiday Tournament at Kansas City Thursday night.

White scored a career high of 29 points and stole the ball six times, resulting in five more Kansas baskets. If the Jayhawks keep winning, they figure to chalk up career victory No. 1,000 at Kansas State on Jan. 18.

The victory by the Jayhawks, ranked eighth nationally in the Associated Press poll, highlighted the start of the deluge of the numerous holiday tournaments between Christmas and New Year's.

Unbeaten Duquesne and Columbia made it eight and seven in a row, respectively, with victories in the All-College Tourney at Oklahoma City and the Rain-ulu.

The Dukes, paced by Moe Barr's 28 points, topped Texas A&M 93-71. Columbia, led by Jim McMillian's 25 points, almost blew a 30-point lead, but

West Gives Lakers Win Over Detroit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Jerry West crashed the National Basketball Association's 16,000-point barrier . . . and kept driving for more.

The Los Angeles backcourt ace dribbled almost the length of the floor and put in a driving, one-hander with seconds to play, giving the Lakers a 95-94 victory over the Detroit Pistons Thursday night.

Earlier in the game West, who finished with 29 points; became the eighth player in NBA history to reach the 16,000 career mark.

Elsewhere, Boston drubbed Milwaukee 139-106. Philadelphia stopped Baltimore 125-120, Chicago trimmed Cincinnati 104-95, Atlanta riddled Seattle 126-96 and San Francisco nosed out Phoenix 119-118.

Indiana nipped Minnesota 134-133 in overtime and Miami slipped past Houston 111-108 in American Basketball Association play.

The Lakers wiped out a seven-point deficit in the final 3½ minutes behind the shooting of West and Elgin Baylor, who scored 20 points in all. Detroit missed a shot with 14 seconds remaining and the Lakers grabbed the rebound. West took it the rest of the way.

Boston broke loose for 11 consecutive points . . . nine by Larry Siegfried . . . midway in the first period and breezed past the Bucks to end a three-game home court losing string. John Mavrick led the Celtics' attack with 29 points, Bailey Howell got 27 and Siegfried 23 . . . including 17 in the first half.

Chet Walker tossed in 34 points as Philadelphia snapped Baltimore's winning streak at nine games by knocking off the Bullets for the 14th time in a row since the tailend of the 1966-67 season. The victory pulled the 76ers within 2½ games of first place Baltimore in the Eastern Division.

Jerry Sloan scored 24 points and combined with Bob Boozer and Bob Weiss to thwart a late Cincinnati rally as the Bulls broke a three-game losing string. Tom Van Arsdale sparked the Royals' comeback, hitting 13 of his 28 points in a six-minute fourth quarter stretch.

Lou Hudson's 28 points and 25 by Zelmo Beaty led Atlanta past Seattle. The Hawks exploded for 42 points in the third period to break the game open.

San Francisco's Bill Turner, whose 28 points marked a personal career high, divided 10 points with teammate Joe Ellis in the last three minutes, enabling the Warriors to hold off the Suns. The Warriors posted their third straight victory despite a 40-point burst by Gail Goodrich of Phoenix.

Eight, All-College and Rainbow Classic, Colorado trounced Oklahoma 63-56, Oklahoma City hung on to defeat Tulane 94-86 and ninth-ranked Santa Clara beat West Virginia 72-58.

Jets Versus Raiders for A.L. Title

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Get Lamonica."

That, says Gerry Philbin, is the best defense against the Oakland Raiders' passing attack.

The New York Jets, for whom Philbin plays a brilliant defensive end, must contend with that attack Sunday in the American Football League championship game, and if they can stop it, they could stop Oakland.

Daryle Lamonica is the center of the attack, and he devastated Kansas City with five touch-down passes last Sunday in the Western Division playoff.

"If we get to Lamonica early, then we could save what could be a long game for us," said Philbin, who was named to the AFL All-Star team earlier this week. "We've got to keep on his back. We have to get to him because when he's hot, he's hot."

"Even if you can't tackle him and throw him for a loss you can get your hands in his face. If he has to throw over your hands, he's very likely going to throw a bad pass."

Lamonica didn't throw too many bad passes six weeks ago when he completed 21 of 34 against the Jets for 311 yards and four touchdowns.

"He had a pretty good day, but I think we put pressure on him," Philbin recalled. "We got to him twice, and we made him scramble a few times. Anyone is less effective if he has to run around while he's trying to see his receivers."

"But he throws so quick you have to get in on him or he'll hurt you. He's also one of the toughest quarterbacks around. We've given him some good shots in the past—nothing dirty but just hard—and he just bounces right back. You can't rattle him mentally either."

What the whole thing comes down to is how well the Oakland offensive line and the New York defensive line does against each other. The Jets dumped the opposing quarterback 43 times this season, third best in the league, while the Raiders have permitted the opposition to get to their quarterback 29 times, fourth in the league.

"I'd have to say they have one of the best pass protections in the Western Division," said Philbin, a 6-foot-2, 245-pounder now in his fifth season.

"In the Kansas City game they looked even better than I thought. They looked super. I think Kansas City got to Lamonica only once. You have to do better than that."

Hockey Stars Fight to Regain Jobs

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two sidelined stars, Gump Worsley and Rod Gilbert, are ready to return to National Hockey League action but the question is whether their replacements will let them.

Worsley, goaltender for the Montreal Canadiens, will begin working out today after sitting out a month to rest shattered nerves.

Gilbert, out three weeks with a chipped bone and stretched ligaments in his left ankle, skated Thursday following New York's game with Oakland and reported himself ready for at least partial work in the Rangers' weekend series with the Canadiens.

Worsley returns with the Canadiens in first place, thanks mainly to the efforts of his replacement, rookie Tony Esposito. Montreal moved into the East Division lead Thursday night with a 4-2 victory over Toronto as Esposito kicked out 34 shots.

Gilbert's replacement has been Reggie Fleming, who has a four-game scoring streak going for himself. Fleming's latest was the first goal in New York's 3-1 victory over Oakland Thursday night.

In other games Thursday, St. Louis downed Pittsburgh 3-2 and Minnesota and Los Angeles played to a 4-4 tie.

Montreal was down 2-1 before

Hogs Rusty on Resuming Bowl Practice

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks resumed practice Thursday for their Jan. 1 engagement with Georgia in the Sugar Bowl.

Coach Frank Broyles said "attitudes were good, but we looked rusty, as you'd expect after a five-day layoff."

Broyles also said the line-backer Cliff Powell, who received a dislocated shoulder in the SMU game, would start against Georgia with one arm strapped to his side.

Powell, a 6-foot-1, 205-pound junior, returned to practice 10 days ago with the shoulder tied down in a harness that includes the upper portion of his arm. He has freedom in the forearm.

The Razorbacks were to work out at 10:30 a.m. today and again at 2:15 p.m.

Henri Richard and Bobby Rousseau beat Toronto goalie Bruce Gamble in the second period. Then John Ferguson's 10th goal of the year wrapped up the scoring in the final period.

Esposito, a Michigan Tech graduate, has played 10 games, two of them shutouts, and has a 2.50 goals against average since taking over for Worsley and Rogation Vachon, Montreal's other goalie who is out with a broken hand.

It was only the second loss in 11 games for the Maple Leafs, who remain in third place, three points behind Montreal and two back of idle Boston.

Fleming, who had managed one goal in New York's first 30 games, continued his sudden hot streak with a second period tally against Oakland that snapped a scoreless tie. He was parked in front of goalie Gary Smith when Jean Ratelle found him with a perfect pass.

"What's the secret of my sudden success?" laughed Fleming, repeating a reporter's question. "The puck's going in the net, that's the secret. I've had better chances and seen the puck do everything but go in."

Phil Goyette and Dave Balon were the other Ranger scorers. Balon's goal breaking a 2-4 game dry spell for him. Gary Jarrett scored Oakland's goal.

St. Louis stretched its home ice unbeaten string to 11 games by coming from behind to beat Pittsburgh. Gary Sabourin's third period goal was the winner for the West Division leading Blues.

Sabourin scored less than 1½ minutes after Jim Roberts tied the score for St. Louis while killing a penalty. Noel Picard's got the Blues on the scoreboard in the second period after Val Fonteyne and Gene Uliashov clicked for the Penguins in the opening stanza.

Danny Grant's goal with less than two minutes to play capped a Minnesota comeback that enabled the North Stars to salvage their deadlock with Los Angeles, which led 4-1. Danny O'Shea powered Minnesota with a pair of goals while Bill Flett scored twice for the Kings.

Perfect Plays Beat Gimmicks in View of NL

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Proper execution of proven plays will outweigh surprise gimmickery in Sunday's National Football League championship game, says Coach Don Shula of the Baltimore Colts.

"Teams don't get this far without doing some things right," Shula said of his Colts and their opponents, the Cleveland Browns. "You don't throw out the things you can do and use gimmick stuff."

"If anything new is done, it will be a wrinkle here and there on offense or defense. But there won't be any wholesale changes."

A breakdown of Baltimore basics helped contribute to Cleveland's 30-20 victory in a regular season game between the two teams. It was Baltimore's only loss in 15 games.

"We're happy for the opportunity to play Cleveland again," Shula said. "We hope to play a lot better than we did in the first game, and execute better."

Leroy Kelly of Cleveland, the NFL's ground-gaining champ, gained 130 yards in the regular season game and scored two touchdowns.

Asked if Kelly was Baltimore's chief concern for Sunday's contest in Cleveland, Shula agreed and then elaborated: "Leroy Kelly, the Browns' defense, the Browns' offense, and the whole Cleveland football team."

In Thursday's practice, the Colts rehearsed their defensive alignments for the Browns, including ways to disguise the blitz.

"The defenses of the two teams are quite similar," Shula said. "The Browns don't blitz much, but rather use it as a mixer."

Cleveland's front four apparently does the rushing job adequately without help from the blitz, since the Browns' secondary led the league with 32 interceptions.

Shula had high praise for Cleveland line-backers Jim Houston, Bob Matheson and Dale Lindsey, crediting them with delaying pass receivers near the line of scrimmage and dropping back to aid the deep backs.

The Browns gave up 273 points in 14 regular season games, as compared with Baltimore's league-leading total of 144.

Floridians Beat Houston by One Point

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don Freeman's marksmanship 15 feet from the basket paid off time and again for the Miami Floridians. One time from the same distance was enough for Fred Lewis and the Indiana Pacers.

Freeman hit on 14 of 16 shots from the free throw line on the way to a 42-point spree that led the Floridians past Houston 111-108 Thursday night for their third straight American Basketball Association victory.

Lewis' 15-foot jump shot with two seconds to play in overtime gave Indiana a 134-133 nod over Minnesota in the only other game on the ABA schedule.

Free throw accuracy kept Houston in the game at Miami Beach, the Mavericks converting 42 of 49 shots from the line . . . including 12 of 12 by Don Carlos. But Freeman's popping from the floor and foul line made the difference for the Floridians, who led 59-49 at half-time.

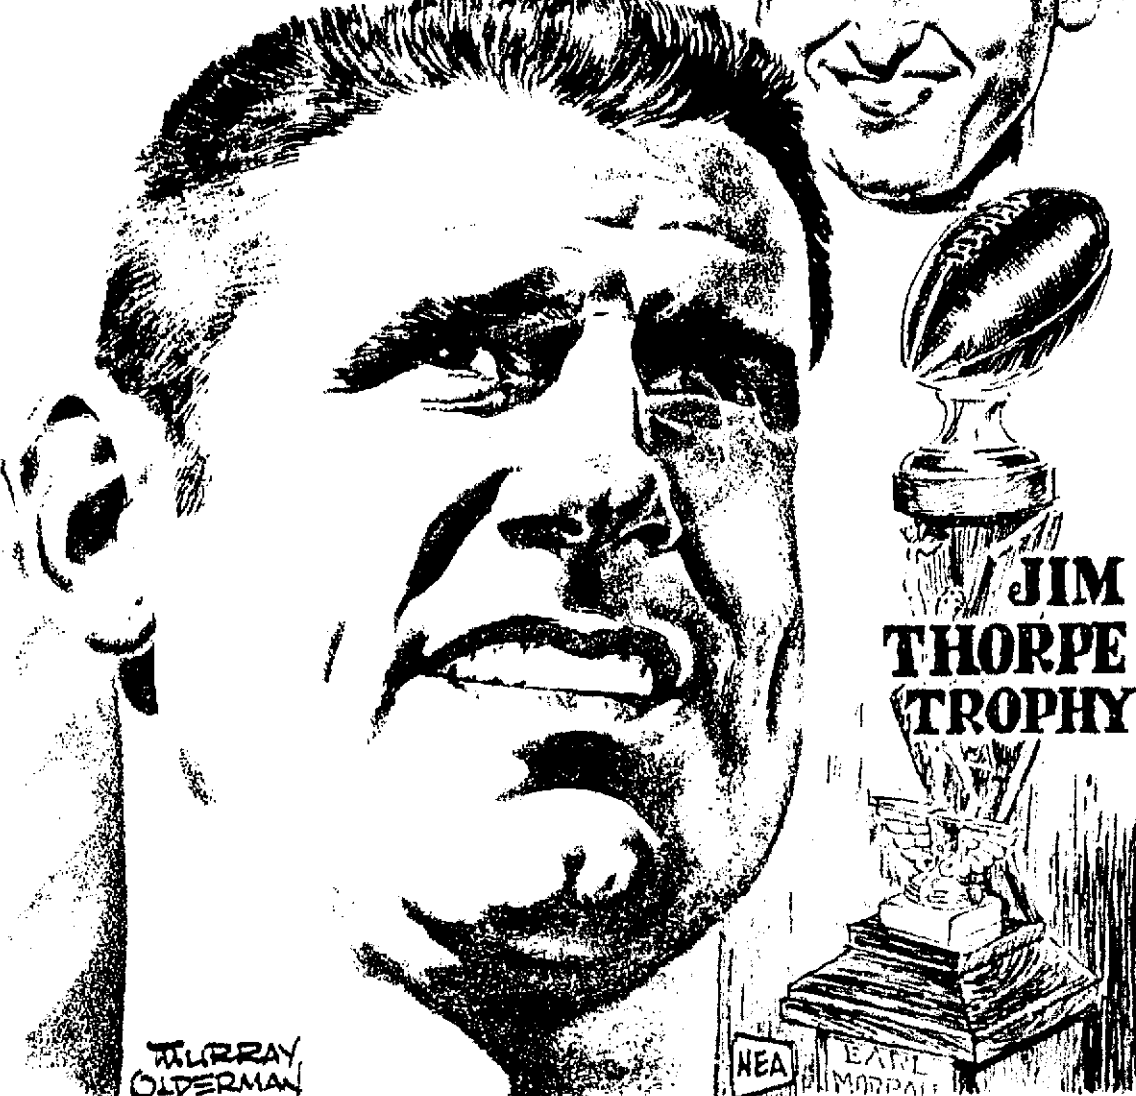

Houston's Willie Somerset scored 37 points and Carlos added 22 before fouling out late in the game. Connie Hawkins tossed in 39 points for Minnesota and his free throw put the Eastern Division leader in front 133-132 with 24 seconds remaining in overtime. But Indiana took the ball down court and held it until Lewis' clutch basket pulled the victory out of the fire.

The Pacers squandered a 13-point lead in the final six minutes of regulation play, then sent the game into overtime, tied at 124, on Bob Netolicky's field goal in the closing seconds. Netolicky topped Indiana with 33 points. Mel Daniels scored 29 for the Pacers.

In National Basketball Association games, Boston blasted Milwaukee 139-106; Los Angeles nipped Detroit 95-94; Philadelphia topped Baltimore 125-120; Chicago beat Cincinnati 104-96; Atlanta whipped Seattle 126-96 and San Francisco edged Phoenix 119-118.

Day of Bowl TV Watchers Draws Near

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's time for the nation's college football fans to go into orbit around their television sets.

All systems are "go" as the bowl season is about to blast off with 11 games in the next six days, most of them to be televised somewhere or other.

However, the University of Michigan, which missed out on a trip to the Rose Bowl, got its licks in Thursday night by winning the Coach Bowl. The Wolverines tapped Glenn "Bo" Schembechler of Miami, Ohio, to succeed Chalmers "Bump" Elliott as head coach. The Associated Press learned Elliott will move up to associate athletic director.

In six seasons at Miami, Schembechler's teams won 40 games, lost 17 and tied three. As a student there, he played under Woody Hayes, whose Ohio State team is going to the Rose Bowl.

The action on the field begins tonight when Ohio University, unbeaten, untied and ranked 15th in the nation, meets Richmond's Southern Conference champions in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla.

Saturday finds Missouri against Alabama in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.; Auburn and Arizona in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., and two all-star contests—the East-West Shrine Game in San Francisco and the Blue-Gray at Montgomery, Ala.

Next week it's the Peach Bowl Monday, the Blue Bonnet Bowl Tuesday and the Rose, Orange, Cotton and Sugar Bowls Wednesday.

A crowd of 68,000 is expected to watch a defensive battle between Missouri and Alabama in the Gator Bowl. Bama ranked fifth in total defense and defense against scoring and seventh in rushing defense. Missouri was eighth in total defense and fifth in pass defense but the Tigers also ranked 12th in rushing offense and 21st in total offense.

They have an All-American in safety Roger Wehrli, the nation's No. 1 punt returner.

The Sun Bowl also could be a defensive struggle in this year of the exploding scoreboard. Although Auburn has a potent aerial duo in Loran Carter and Tim Christian and Arizona has a fine receiver in Ron Gardin, they also rank among the defensive leaders.

Arizona finished seventh in total defense and 14th in rushing defense while Auburn was eighth in defending the rush.

The East-West game suffered a casualty when Wake Forest quarterback Freddie Summers fractured a foot in practice, leaving East Coach Duffy Daugherty when 1½ signal-callers—Dennis Brown of Michigan and Ed Podolak of Iowa, who was switched to halfback during the season.

Davis Cup Recaptured by U.S. Team

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — Harry Hopman's big gamble failed and the Davis Cup, the symbol of world tennis supremacy, is headed back to the United States for only the fourth time in the last 18 years.

Stan Smith and Bob Lutz, a pair of collegians from the University of Southern California who perform together like precision dancers on a chorus line, climaxed an eight-month American campaign by crushing Australia's Ray Ruffels and 17-year-old John Alexander in the deciding doubles match 6-4, 6-4, 6-2.

The rout required only 67 minutes, giving the United States a 6-0 lead in the best-of-5 match series and a chance to score the first 5-0 sweep in 20 years.

The doubles victory took tension and importance away from the final two singles matches starting Saturday (10:45 p.m., EST, Friday).

Clark Graebner of New York meets Ruffels in the first match followed by a joust between Arthur Ashe Jr., of Richmond, Va., and Australian champion Bill Bowrey.

A three-hour, five-set victory by Graebner over Bowrey and Ashe's triumph over Ruffels in four sets put the Americans up for today's doubles clincher.

Hopman's gamble was in inserting teen-ager Alexander into the doubles although he and Ruffels played together only eight days except for the obscure tournament several weeks ago.

Alexander became the youngest player in history to compete in the Challenge Round

Montgomery Hogs' Key to Sugar Bowl

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles refuses to hang any "super" labels on Bill Montgomery but in his own way Broyles is lavish in his praise of the Razorbacks' sophomore quarterback who will be a key figure in the Sugar Bowl game with fourth-ranked Georgia.

"I like for the record to speak and it does," says Broyles. "His record speaks much louder than anything I could say."

"A senior who played regular for three years would have been excited about the kind of year Bill had," said Broyles.

Montgomery's record — Chosen "Sophomore of the Year" in the Southwest Conference over national passing leader Chuck Hixson of SMU and fullback Steve Worster of Texas.

— Set an Arkansas total offense record of 1,834 yards.

— Completed 134 of 234 passes for 1,595 yards, another school record.

— Completed 10 touchdown passes and did not throw an interception in his last 86 attempts.

"What our opponents said about him speaks louder than anything I could say," said Broyles.

Sample these comments from other coaches:

"He's got the tremendously quick arm which can be the difference in completing one now-days," said Texas Coach J. T. King. "He pulled a bootleg fake in the SMU game; well, he had time to eat a sandwich before he threw. Without him, Arkansas might be 5-5."

Glenn Dobbs, who recently resigned as head coach at Tulsa, said after Arkansas had scored a 56-13 victory: "I've said before that Bill Montgomery is the best quarterback I've ever seen and I think he is."

Montgomery's ability to move the stungest defense against scoring in the nation, is one of the ninth-ranked Razorbacks against Georgia, which fielded the keys to Arkansas' chances Jan. 1 at New Orleans.

Besides his passing accomplishments, the slender 174-pounder from Carrollton, Tex., grossed 438 yards rushing and runs the various option plays smoothly.

"He has a knack for running the option play that you can't coach," says Broyles. "You run any options that you want to and not worry about it. The option is the avenue that opens up our offense. That's what tears the gate down."

Montgomery looks confident just trotting onto the field to join the offensive huddles and his teammates have confidence in him.

"The players are bound to have confidence in any quarterback who executes the plays that you work on," Broyles said. "Really, the first comment you hear from outsiders is about his coolness."

"Just say we thought he had the potential and he lived up to it," Broyles said.

Orange Bowl

PENN STATE (10-0)

STRENGTHS—Defense has been the Nittany Lions' strong point all season. Junior tackle Mike Reid and Steve Smear anchor a defensive line that has been tough to penetrate. Five of ten Penn State victims failed to crack double figures and all but two were held to two touchdowns or less. Offensively, Nittany Lions have strong ground game, led by backs Bob Campbell, Charlie Pittman and Don Abbey. All-American tight end Ted Kwalick and split end Leon Angevine keep defenses honest as pass-catching threats.

WEAKNESSES—Passing game is only questionable part of this otherwise complete team. First-year quarterback Chuck Burkhardt has improved with every game, but still isn't a threat to throw deep despite fine blocking line.

SUMMARY—Penn State is making its first appearance ever in the Orange Bowl with possibly its best team ever. Coach Joe Paterno's club has been tested seriously only twice (by Army and West Virginia) and is best-balanced team to come out of the East in years. On paper, its first Orange Bowl trip should be a success.

Jan. 1 at Miami, 8 p.m., EST

Bobby Douglass

Prediction: Penn State, 21-13

KANSAS (9-1)

STRENGTHS—All-American quarterback Bobby Douglass is most versatile performer. Excellent passer, he also can scramble for long gains on rollouts and options. Running backs Donnie Shanklin and John Riggins have rolled up impressive yardage totals and are breakaway threats. Ends George McGowan and John Mosier and flanker John Jackson are better-than-average receivers for Douglass. Left-handed tosses. Offensive line blocks well and gives Douglass fine protection. Jayhawks also have the better kicking game.

WEAKNESSES—Defense has been scored upon 25 times this season and will have its hands full containing the Penn State ground game. Defensive line has good size, but little speed and mobility.

SUMMARY—Pepper Rodgers has revitalized football at Kansas, but is lacking toughest foe of the season. His offense is capable, but defense has been too easy to score upon. Only a super defensive job can stop Penn State and Jayhawks will have their work cut out.

Ram Coach Running One Man All the Time Is Bad Omen, Says Pro Quarterback

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

CLEVELAND (AP) — The night before Cleveland met Baltimore during the regular season, Bill Nelsen, the Browns' quarterback and former Southern California star, picked up a newspaper to see how his alma mater had done that day.

"The first thing I noticed," Nelsen recalls, "was that USC had run O. J. Simpson more than 30 times. And I remember thinking 'a guy can get killed running that many times in one game.'"

Allen, 46, was fired Thursday by Dan Reeves, president and general manager of the National Football League club. Reeves said a personality conflict led to his decision. "It was probably more my fault than his," said Reeves.

Allen called a news conference for today.

In three years with the Rams, after the Western Division team had suffered seven straight losing seasons, Allen turned Los Angeles into a winner with seasons of 8-6, 11-4 and 10-3-1.

The first public hostility between the quiet Allen and Reeves came after the Nov. 17 Ram game with the San Francisco 49ers.

The teams tied 20-20. After the game, Allen said the muddy field conditions were the worst he'd ever seen. Reeves called the comments unnecessary and ill-advised.

"But we heard rumors in training camp," said Roman Gabriel, the No. 1 quarterback of the Rams under Allen.

"We heard rumors that George Allen would be fired if we didn't win it all this year," Gabriel said. "And those rumors popped up more often as the season progressed."

"Before our last ball game with the Baltimore Colts, Coach Allen said he wouldn't be back next year," said offensive guard and co-captain Joe Scibelli.

Allen seems to always have commanded the respect of his players. In 1963, while a coach with the Chicago Bears, the team there presented him the championship game ball, an honor normally reserved for players.

"It's hard to realize that a man who's been a winner like George Allen could be fired," Gabriel said. "He gave more to his players than any other coach I've ever played for."

"If he goes to another team, and he wants me to play for him," Gabriel said, "I might make it known I'd like to be traded. I've also thought about sitting out a year or even retiring."

Allen came to the Rams as successor to Harland Sware, who had a 4-10 record in 1965. Reeves fought a court battle with Chicago owner George Halas for Allen, then gave his new coach a five-year, $40,000-a-year contract.

Allen's deals earned him the name of The Trader and in 1966 the Rams were 8-6, their best record in eight years.

The following season Los Angeles was 11-1-2, won the Coastal Division title, and after a 38-7 loss to Green Bay for the Western Division crown, thrashed Cleveland 30-6 in the Playoff Bowl.

This year the Rams were hit by injury and illness but wound up 10-3-1, losing their last two downs as the Browns took a 30-7 victory.

That's the only blemish on the Baltimore record in 15 games so far this season and Kelly's performance that day is probably the major reason Baltimore Coach Don Shula says "we'll be watching him all the time Sunday" when the two teams meet in the National Football League title game.

Kelly put together seven 100-yard days during the regular season while gaining 1,239 yards and becoming only the third, three-time 1000-yard rusher in NFL history.

"We think," said Nick Skorich, who runs the Cleveland offense, "that if Kelly runs the ball 20 times he'll break a long one sooner or later. We also feel if we give him the ball 20 times he'll give us 100 yards."

"I'm sure when Baltimore says they'll be watching him all the time they will be. They'll make sure they know where he is all the time," said Skorich.

Finding him, however, is one thing. Stopping him is another.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

TO TELL OR NOT TO TELL
Dear Helen: Your advice to "Confused" was so wrong! Her husband accuses her of being under a Puritanical mother's "rigid morality" because she tells her children she married a year before her real wedding date. Why shouldn't she shield them from the "had to" angle? If they know her secret, perhaps they will think, "Well, it worked out fine for my parents, why not for us?"

You sided with the husband who wanted to tell the children the truth when they asked. Why risk a happy family life just because a man is overly honest? Or maybe he's proud of being "premature." — MODERN years. At one time they were superior to men, and men put them on a pedestal. Now they're "equal," and therefore tramping. And that stupid moron, AFW, is selling it to new customers! What modern women need is more self-respect. Just because we don't throw ourselves at every man around, doesn't mean we are frigid. Just selective! — AGAINST

Dear Helen: I wear shorts to garden in, and as we live in the South, that means most last September. I noticed my neighbors stared when I came out in a swim suit, but what hot?

Then I started getting anonymous letters in the mail about how the Lord frowns on nudity and fornication. I didn't think I fitted in either category, so I ignored them.

Next, Helen, you won't believe this, but the village minister walked down the street, dropped to his knees near where I was digging, and started praying.

I honestly think some of these women are so repressed they blindfold themselves when they take a bath. No wonder their husbands—and the minister—go kind of bug-eyed. My husband doesn't mind my shorts. Should I cover up for the prudes, or keep on being the town—JEZE-BEL?

Dear Jez: Grin and be stared at!—Sounds as if the town needs a good jolt. If you cover up, you may ruin the best gossip they've had in years. (But hope your husband gets an early transfer out of "Joyland.") — H.

Care for Qily Skin
Only skin needs to be soaped and rinsed twice every time you wash your face. Then pat it with an astringent to tighten up any large pores. Repeat this treatment two or three times a day.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
Nothing is so indicative of deepest culture as a tender consideration of the ignorant. — Emerson said it.

ALTAR GUILD HOLDS PARTY
The Altar Guild of the BeeBee Memorial C.M.E. Church held its annual Christmas party in the home of Mrs. Percy Turner December 17th. The home was beautifully decorated in the Christmas motif; the table was laid with a lace cloth, centered with a punch bowl, around which was placed an arrangement of flowers.

Mrs. L. O. Crofton, a teacher in the Yerger High School, led the group in the singing of Christmas carols; Mrs. Carney Hamilton led the prayer; Mrs. Turner said a Christmas poem, and Mrs. M.L. Rutherford made remarks. Games were played, and a turkey dinner was served to the members, and two guests, Mrs. L.O. Crofton and Mrs. Amanda Fulce. Mrs. Percy Turner, President; Mrs. Ruby Whitely, Secretary; Mrs. Josephine Bize, Reporter.

FUNERALS
Funeral service for Lonnie Ragland will be held Saturday December 28th at 1:00 p.m. at the Mt. Moriah Baptist Church, on the Blevins highway. Burial in Mt. Moriah Cemetery under the direction of Hicks Funeral Home, Inc.

Mr. Henry Graves of Nashville route passed away in a Nashville Nursing Home December 26, 1968.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete and will be announced by Hicks Funeral Home, Inc.

COMING AND GOING
Mr. and Mrs. George Hamilton and son Glenn spent a few hours with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hamilton and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. James O. Dudley and sons James Curtis and Kevin Duane Dudley of Bessemer, Alabama are spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hicks.

dershoot or overshoot in splash-down—the Pacific Ocean. There is not enough sea range in the Atlantic, free of the danger of striking a land mass.

Navy recovery ships and planes patrolled a 900-mile-long oblong area in the Pacific, laid out in a northwest-southeast angle along the spacecraft's path — 118 degrees to the Equator.

The precise target point—the USS Yorktown, an aircraft carrier—circled at a point some 1,450 miles southwest of Hawaii, about 400 miles north of the Equator. The seas in the area were five-foot swells, crolling, and there was a possibility of rain out of scattered clouds at 12,000 feet and broken clouds at 12,000.

The critical 14 minutes—the last minutes of the flight—these planned milestones, along the 1,350-mile descent path.

—The fireball, created by friction as air slowed the spacecraft, would black out the radios for three minutes.

—The astronauts set themselves to handle slowdown forces six times the force of gravity.

—There was a controlled "bounce" from 180,000 feet to 210,000, when the spacecraft faced maximum gravity forces.

—And from that point on, a gentle arc downwards with main parachutes opening at 10,000 feet.

Although the Apollo spacecraft descend blunt-end down, they have a tendency—as Apollo 7 did—to flip upside down in the water. The astronauts right the craft easily and quickly by inflating flotation bags in the spacecraft's nose.

Splashdown had these aspects: projection of a high intensity flashing light and electronic beacons for easy spotting in the darkness. The option to remain in the spacecraft or board rubber life rafts. The presence of recovery helicopters waiting for davy to drop their frogman.

COIN MELTING BAN

Secretary of the Treasury

Henry Fowler has recommended that his successor continue the present ban on the melting and exporting of U.S. silver coinage, and that Congress enact legislation making the ban permanent.

The commission is to vote on

(1) whether to recommend that Congress make the ban permanent, or (2) end the ban entirely.

If you have noticed an increased number of silver coins in your pocket change, it is because an added demand for coins this fall

necessitated recycling silver coins mixed in bags of clad coins. According to the Treasury this resulted in a net loss of an estimated 28 million ounces of silver, primarily in the form of silver dimes. So keep your eyes open for both dimes and quarters. This may be your last chance to pick up a few for posterity.

Word from Margo Russell, editor of Coin World, is that the Nixon Inaugural Medal

will be struck by Medallic

Art Co. of New York and distributed by Presidential

Art Medals, Inc., 10 W.

National Road, Englewood,

Ohio, and the Coin and

Currency Institute, New York

City.

Two types of medals will be made available. A bronze version measuring 2 1/4 inches in diameter will cost

$8, including an easel designed to display the medal.

The silver pieces will be numbered from 1 to 15,000.

The first of these pieces will be presented to Vice President-elect Spiro Agnew. The silver copy will measure 2 1/2 inches in diameter and sell for $45 each.

A sculptured miniature of the Great Seal of the United States embossed by

Julie Nixon for her father,

President-elect Nixon, will appear on the reverse of the 1969 inaugural medal.

showed a better hand than he actually held."
We disagreed and felt that South's immediate two-club bid merely showed some dis-tributational values and no desire to double a spade contract. Anyway, the final four-heart contract wasn't astonishing and South's only real problem in the play was to make sure that he led diamonds from his own hand
instead of from dummy.

Then we asked, "How did you get killed by this bid?"
He replied, "My partner didn't bid two clubs and it was up to me to act over two spades. Naturally I jumped to three no-trump. East opened a spade and the best I could do was to settle for down one."

We sympathized with the Unlucky Expert, but merely to get rid of him. Actually, we felt that his three no-trump call was frightful. He could expect a spade lead and he had but one spade stopper. He should merely have bid two no-trump. If his partner passed, he would at least show a profit but we are certain that South would have tried a three-club bid.
whereupon the Unlucky Expert could have jumped to four hearts.

THE DOCTOR SAYS
Avoid Undue Tension
In Raynaud's Disease
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Raynaud's disease is characterized by a temporary blanching of the fingers of both hands followed by a bluish tinge, then, with a return of the circulation, redness. Because a primary and secondary type of this disease are recognized, it is important that a doctor determine which type a victim has.

Primary Raynaud's disease occurs more frequently in women than in men. The onset may occur at any age but is usually in the 20s or 30s. The disease is caused by spasms in the smaller arteries of the fingers, followed by dilation. The underlying cause is not known but nervous tension may be a contributing factor. There is no direct evidence that smoking is a cause but excessive smoking is often a sign of extreme tension and, since nicotine does cause constriction of the arteries, the victim should give up smoking.

Exposure of the hands or the whole body to cold will usually precipitate an attack.
The primary type usually responds well to treatment and the victim may outgrow the disease in her late 30s or early 40s.

Several new drugs that dilate the arteries have been used but a nitroglycerin tablet (1/200 grain or 0.3 milli-gram) placed under the tongue is still the best. It is advisable to use one of these tablets 10 minutes before going outside in cold weather.

The most important part of the treatment, however, is avoidance of undue tension and protection of the hands.
Before going outside in winter, put on an overcoat, scarf, hat, ear muffs and gloves. If you must use your car, start the motor, turn on the heater, open the garage door, then go indoors until the engine is warm before driving off. Always wear gloves to remove anything from the refrigerator. Massage your hands three or four times a day with Poly-sorb Hydrate Lotion, especially just before retiring at night.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

... it is midnight, and the toll of the bells announce a brand New Year. It is time to begin again. God hands us 365 clean, new days and as we accept his proffer we must make valid resolutions to discharge all the responsibilities that automatically come with them. Our world is confused. Seeds of destruction are planted everywhere. It is not a time for indecision. May we resolve, right now, to get a clearer view of destiny... to understand more of the meaning and purpose of life. May we have more time for God, and somehow, may He make us realize, He is in front of all our tomorrows. Happy New Year!

1968 IN GRAPHIC REVIEW

IN A PHOTO FINISH, Republicans Richard M. Nixon and Spiro T. Agnew were elected president and vice president. What promised to be an uninteresting election year brought many surprises, such as the drop-out of LBJ from the presidential race, a Democratic convention marred by riots and violence, a last-minute push that almost carried Hubert Humphrey to victory and the astounding Nixon comeback.

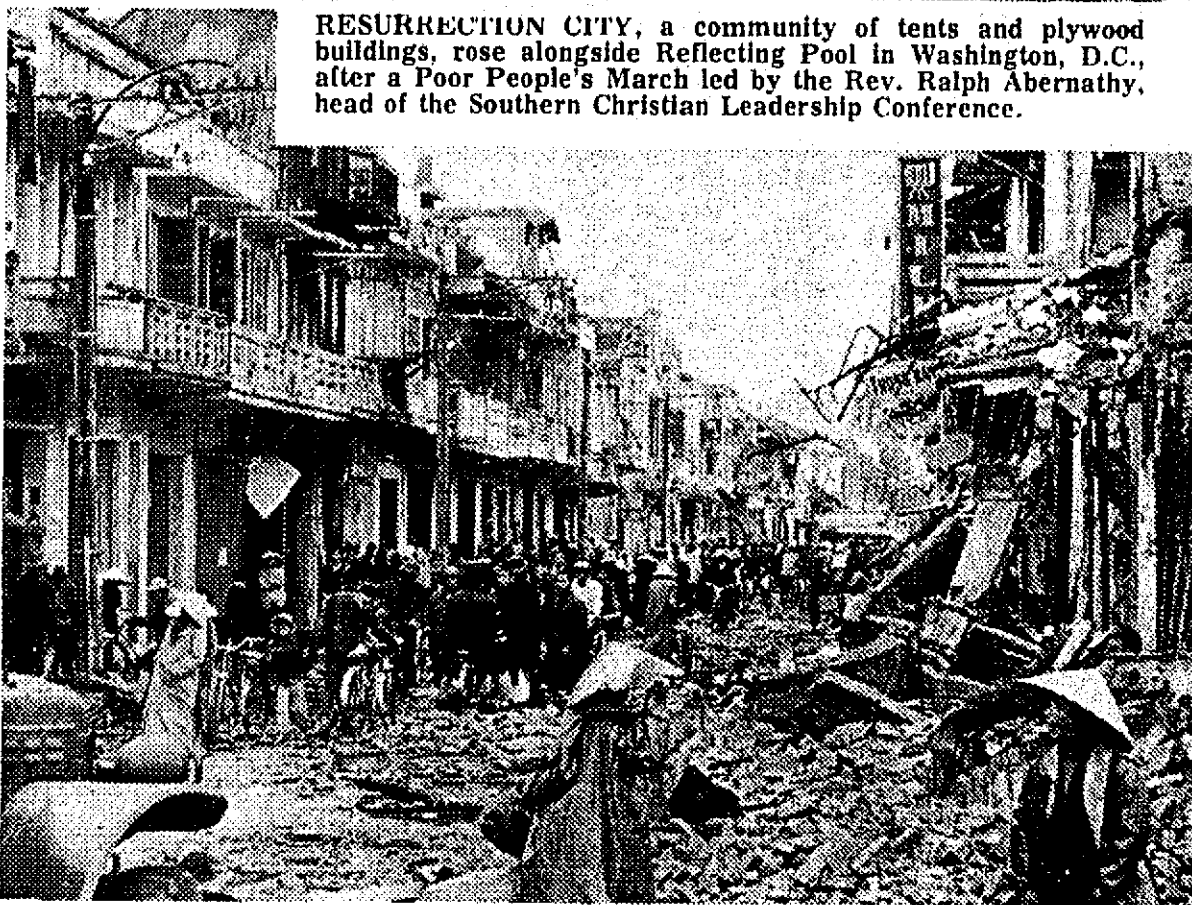

RESURRECTION CITY, a community of tents and plywood buildings, rose alongside Reflecting Pool in Washington, D.C., after a Poor People's March led by the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

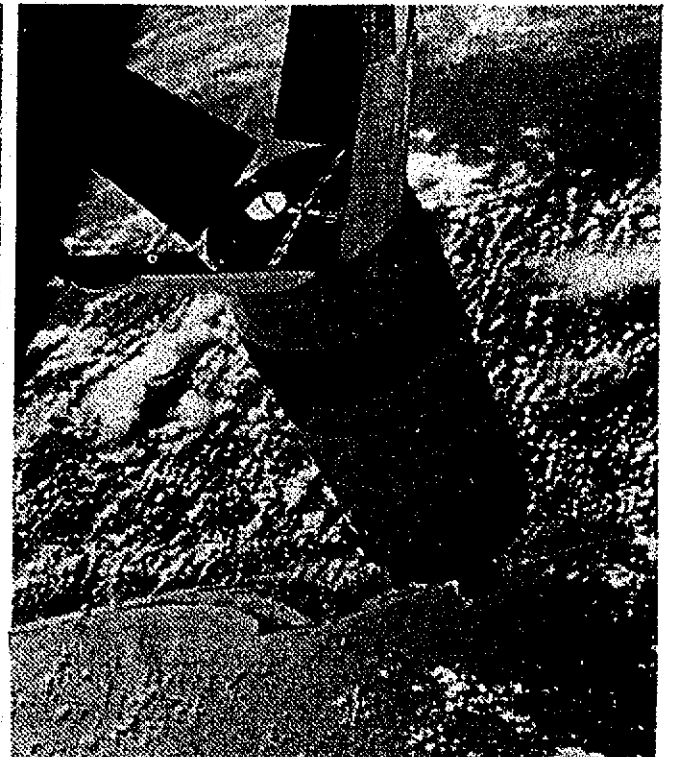

HEARTS were in—and out—as transplants were conducted around the world. Here Dr. Philip Blai-berg, longest living human heart recipient, leaves Cape Town, South Africa, hospital with his wife.

VIETNAM WAR, heretofore limited for the most part to rural areas, exploded in the cities with the Tet offensive early in the year. After fierce fighting in Hue, above, and Saigon, Communist forces were driven back with heavy casualties on both sides. Peace talks were begun in Paris, but war's end seemed a long way off to observers.

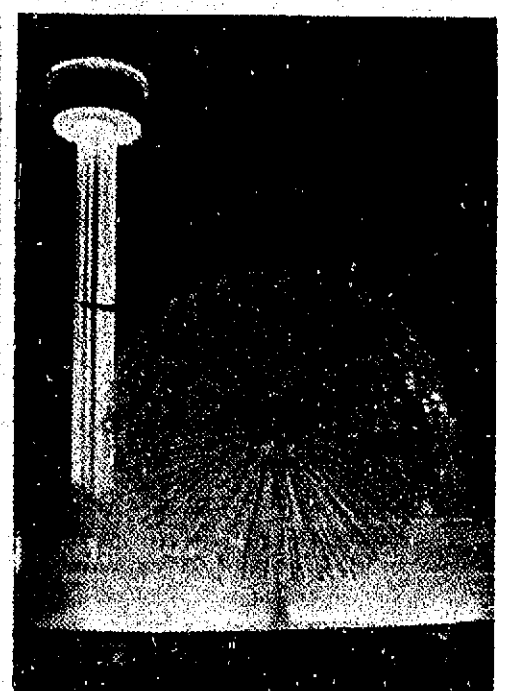

APOLLO 7, America's first manned spaceshot in nearly two years, was termed flawless, opening way for manned lunar orbit. Photo shows expanded Saturn IVB as seen from spacecraft.

WEDDING OF THE YEAR took world by surprise. Jacqueline Kennedy, 39, married Aristotle Onassis, 62, on his private island off the coast of Greece. Here, they leave chapel for a reception aboard Onassis' luxurious yacht.

AMERICAN PRESTIGE hit a low when North Korean naval force of patrol boats seized the USS Pueblo, an intelligence ship operating in the Sea of Japan. As MIG fighters circled overhead, the Pueblo was forced by Communists to put into port of Wonsan.

HEMISFAIR—this year's world's fair—was held in San Antonio, Tex. Here are the Peacock Fountain and Tower of the Americas.

RUSSIAN TANKS rolled into Prague as the Soviet Union and four allied satellite nations invaded Czechoslovakia and seized control of the government. Czech citizens defied Moscow in acts of passive resistance. Invasion prompted second thoughts by NATO nations losing interest in the organization.

CHICAGO was not a town for toddlers during the Democratic National Convention. While delegates cheered, made speeches and marched in the aisles of the convention hall, police and demonstrators mixed it up outside in a shocking display that brought strong criticism of Mayor Daley and his methods of controlling the city.

Expect The Unexpected

So steadily does the average citizen have Christmas-tree safety drilled into him at this time every year, from every printed and verbal source, that duplicating those warnings in an editorial would be like carrying coals to Newcastle.

But what about the unexpected? Are we ready to cope with fire dangers which rarely arise - but could - during the Christmas season? Each year some half a hundred Americans lose their lives by fire in the few days centering around Christmas.

Do you, for example, know you should refrain from smoking near a Christmas tree? It could burst into a flaming torch. Do room when expecting Christmas visitors who might be smoking where no tray is ready to catch glowing ash? Does your family have an exit plan in case of fire, whatever the type of dwelling, but especially if it is not all on one floor? Is your oven free from grease before the turkey is popped in, to lessen chances of oven fires? And does your baby sitter know what to do in case of fire while you are out for Christmas events?

Let's expect the unexpected, and keep Christmas safe. - Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle

Almost Anything Else But -

One of the troubles with American education must be obvious to any drop-out from the third grade.

The liveliest discussion has nothing to do with whether the teachers are teaching anything or whether their pupils are improving in mind and manners. Instead, it is focused almost entirely on how long the boys are wearing their hair, how short the girls are wearing their skirts and whether the instructor in problems of democracy should be allowed to get away with a beard and sideburns.

Now these are interesting topics, heaven knows, and they have the advantage that anyone with half a mind can elaborate upon them indignantly long past bedtime. The conclusion is invariably the same: The boys should wear their hair shorter, the girls should wear their skirts longer and the instructor in problems of democracy should be straightened out - quick.

But absorbing as these are, they have a almost nothing to education, which is whether the boys and girls are learning in school any of the things it is almost impossible - and never so easy, to learn anywhere else. - Charleston (W Va.) Daily Mail

A Journalistic Tradition

Around newspaper city rooms and pressrooms it is traditional to underrate the role of publishers in the making of a newspaper. But the truth is that no newspaper can be greater than the vision and integrity of the man who makes the ultimate decisions.

The New York Times owes its tradition first of all to Adolph Ochs. That tradition of excellence, thoroughness and integrity was continued and strengthened by Arthur Hays Sulzberger, so that today the Times is one of the eminent newspapers of the world.

With his passing, Arthur Hays Sulzberger leaves both a priceless gift and a worthy challenge to those who come after. - Wall Street Journal

Madison County GI Dies In Action

WASHINGTON (AP) - Army Pfc. Charles P. Glenn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis C. Glenn of Patrick (Madison County), has been killed in action in Vietnam, the Defense Department said Thursday.

The Army changed Glenn from its list of missing to dead.

Mad Fugitive Is Held in Child Murder

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer
DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) - A fugitive from a Missouri mental hospital has been charged with murder after leading police to the frozen body of 10-year-old Pamela Powers, missing since Christmas Eve.

A self-styled minister who identified himself as Anthony Erthell Williams, 24, a Negro, wordlessly directed detectives to Pamela's half-clothed body, wedged between a culvert and the side of a snow-covered 15-foot embankment, Thursday.

Police waited results of an autopsy to determine how the blonde, blue-eyed fourth-grader died and how long she had been in the spot near Mitchellville, 10 miles east of Des Moines on Interstate 80.

Des Moines Police Chief Wendell Nichols said Williams agreed to disclose the place to detective Capt. Cleatus Leaming and Lt. Wallace Nelson during the automobile trip from Davenport, Iowa, where Williams had turned himself in Thursday morning.

After his arraignment on an open charge of murder under heavy guard at the Des Moines police station Thursday, Williams spoke only to his lawyer, Henry T. McKnight of Des Moines.

Nichols said officers did not press Williams for details of the Christmas Eve abduction or slaying under terms of an agreement with McKnight on Williams' surrender.

Officers who accompanied Williams and the two detectives to the girl's body said Williams showed no signs of emotion.

"He was almost casual and not downcast," said one.

His return to Des Moines police headquarters - only four blocks from the YMCA building where Pamela disappeared Tuesday - was conducted under heavy security after police received anonymous telephone calls threatening Williams' life.

McKnight said Williams called him three times before walking into Davenport police headquarters and announcing: "I'm Anthony Erthell Williams. I understand you're looking for me."

Davenport Detective Lt. John Ackerman said Williams asked for a dollar to pay the balance of his $3.60 cab fare from Rock Island, Ill., on the other side of the Mississippi River, where he had been since Wednesday night.

The search for Williams centered in Davenport after a car matching the description and license number of the one which sped away from the Des Moines YMCA Tuesday was found parked and abandoned.

Police found a pair of orange stretch pants and white bobby socks stuffed with YMCA towels

What, Asks Boyle, Is Mere Dog Compared to Self-Sufficient Cat?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) - Every man lives a dog's life part of the time, but I think that if I were to be reborn as a different kind of animal I'd prefer to be a cat.

For one thing a cat has nine lives - so if at first it doesn't succeed, it can always try, try again.

For most of my years I have been a dog lover, but the older and wiser I get the more I respect cats.

A dog is usually a clown, an exhibitionist, a showoff, a crowd pleaser if you will, who spends most of his time on earth wagging his tail and appealing for applause. A cat, on the other hand, is a prime example of enlightened self-interest. She meets life strictly on her own terms and rarely asks or needs a pat on the back.

She is a cat named Lady Dottie, a fugitive from some suburban alley who has been a non-paying guest in my home for more than 10 years. A black mustache on her face gives her a weird resemblance to Adolf Hitler, but

Here's Day-by-Day Log of Flight of the Apollo 8 Astronauts

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) - Here is the day-by-day log of the historic around-the-moon mission of Apollo 8 astronauts Frank Borman, James A. Lovell Jr. and William A. Anders (all times Eastern Standard):

- Saturday Dec. 21 Borman, Lovell and Anders blast off exactly on time at 7:51 a.m. from Cape Kennedy, the first men to ride atop a 63-foot-tall Saturn 5 rocket. After 1 1/4 orbits of the globe, nearly three hours after liftoff, Saturn 5's upper stage restarts to begin the 200,000-mile trip toward lunar orbit. Traveling more than 2,000 miles an

Cold Kills 3 During N.Y. Fuel Strike

By JOSH MILLS
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) - Three New Yorkers have died from lack of heat and 10,000 are seriously ill in unheated apartments, the city health commissioner says, and any fuel firms that refuse to cooperate in making emergency deliveries will be prosecuted.

The Board of Health declared a "state of peril" Thursday, five days after a settlement was reached in the strike of fuel deliverers.

Delays in deliveries prompted Mayor John V. Lindsay to call for "extraordinary" efforts to get fuel to buildings with sick people.

The health commissioner, Dr. Edward O'Rourke, said three deaths were directly attributable to lack of heat. His department estimated that 2,400 people would die in the city this week, half from flu complications.

With temperatures dipping to the teens, the city remained in the grip of a flu epidemic that had drained its supply of vaccine. Slightly higher temperatures were forecast for today.

Deputy Mayor Tim Costello said Health Department personnel would be stationed at about 100 fuel depots in the city "to order that those buildings identified as health emergencies receive oil on a priority basis."

More than 700 unheated buildings have been designated as emergency hospitals because of a large number of ill residents. "When such orders are not complied with," Costello said, "the commissioner of health, under powers granted to him during a state of peril, will press charges against those responsible."

Costello estimated that 28,000 apartments or homes in the city were without heat. The Health Department said 100,000 persons were living in unheated units, with complaints coming in Thursday at a rate of 400 an hour.

Penalty for Late Payment Knocked Out

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - A proposed penalty on late payments of electric bills planned by Arkansas Power & Light Co. was suspended Thursday by the state Public Service Commission.

The PSC scheduled a hearing for Jan. 13 after Otell Smith of Little Rock, president of Teamsters Local 878, formally requested the hearing.

AP&L filed a petition Nov. 27 with the PSC asking to impose a penalty on utility bills when the customer did not pay them within 10 days.

The penalty would be 10 percent on bills unless they were paid for more than $15, then 2 percent on amounts more than $15.

Pine Bluff Man Dies In Crash
PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) - Sharon L. Davis, 19, of Pine Bluff was killed early today in a one-car accident inside the Pine Bluff city limits.

State Police said the girl was a passenger in a car driven by her brother, Gerald Davis, 21, hour, the Apollo 8 crew at that point ventured further and faster than man ever flew previously. Main spacecraft engine fired for first time 11 hours after launch to make Apollo 8's flight path more precise.

- Sunday Dec. 22G Borman comes down with what doctors suspect was "24-hour intestinal flu." He vomits, has diarrhea, chills and headaches. Lovell and Anders report they had been slightly ill and took pills to control diarrhea. Despite their illness, they beam their first live TV program showing the astronauts at work.

- Monday, Dec. 23G Borman reports that "nobody's sick" anymore. Crew fires small maneuvering rockets for a small course correction and give the world its first deep-space television portrait, beaming to home TV viewers a glowing picture of earth from 202,000 miles in space. Later, they reached the point in space where the moon's gravity has greater pull than earth's making them the first men to be "literally out of this world," as Mission Control reported.

- Tuesday, Dec. 24G Apollo pilots join the ranks of history's great explorers at 4:59 a.m. when they trigger their spacecraft engine to kick Apollo 8 into an initial lunar orbit ranging from 59 to 193 miles high. They televise to earth dramatic pictures of a barren and forbidding lunar terrain and announce the moon's surface "looks like plaster of paris" and "dirty beach sand with lots of footprints in it."

A second engine firing during Apollo 8's path to a 70-mile-high circular orbit. The crew orbits the moon a total of 10 times before triggering engine shortly after 1 a.m. Christmas Day to begin the trip back to earth. In a dramatic telecast during the ninth lunar orbit, pilots show view of earth over lunar horizon, beam pictures of lunar terrain which they describe as "a vast, forbidding expanse of nothing."

Telecast is closed with a dramatic reading of the story of the creation in the first chapter of Genesis in the Bible, with each astronaut taking turns reading the script as earthlings watch view at darkness closing over the lunar terrain.

- Wednesday, (Christmas Day) Dec. 25: Apollo 8 crew ends 20 hours in lunar orbit by triggering main engine to begin the trip back to earth. Delighted that the vital maneuver was successful, Lovell tells ground controllers: "Pleased to inform you there is a Santa Claus." At 12:39 p.m. spacecraft passes back into earth's sphere of gravitational influence again. Pilots treat earthlings to TV broadcast showing how to prepare a meal in space.

- Thursday, Dec. 26: Pilots catch up on sleep in preparation for re-entry Friday morning, but take time to give people a look at earth via television from 112,000 miles away.

Arkansas Killed In Road Crash

SPRINGDALE, Ark. (AP) - John Edward Snoderly, 21, of Garfield (Benton County) died early this morning at a Springfield hospital of injuries he received less than 90 minutes earlier in a one-car accident on U.S. 71 inside the Lowell city limits.

State Police said the accident occurred when Snoderly attempted to pass another vehicle and lost control of his car. Officers said Snoderly's car struck a tree.

Lovell is located about eight miles northwest of Springfield.

Charge Turner With Murder in 1st Degree

First degree murder charges were filed today by Deputy Prosecutor Norman Smith with the Hempstead County Circuit Clerk's office against Dennis Turner, 19, of Hope, charging Turner with the Christmas-morning slaying of Larry Wayne Yates, 18, also of Hope.

According to Sheriff Jimmie Griffin, Yates had been shot five times with a .22 cal. pistol. The shooting occurred about four miles east of Hope just beyond Rocky Mound. The Sheriff said that the shooting apparently involved money which belonged to Yates.

The Star checked with Hempstead County Coroner J.T. Honeycutt this morning concerning the autopsy on the body. Honeycutt stated that he had not received the report from Little Rock and that it might a few days before he did.

Turner is being held in Hempstead County Jail. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A.Z. Turner of Hope. Yates was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Yates, also of Hope.

Devore Dies of Car-Train Crash Injury

HOPE, Ark. (AP) - Elmer L. Devore, 56, of Hope died early this morning at a Hope hospital of injuries he received in a car-train collision Wednesday.

Officers said the accident occurred when Devore's vehicle, traveling north on Arkansas 299, was struck by an east-bound Missouri Pacific freight train at Emmett, which is located about eight miles east of Hope.

No Right to Invalidate Election

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell said Thursday that the Sebastian County Election Commission had no power to void the city election at Mansfield last month.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Thomas A. Glaze said the law did not permit county election commissions to refuse to certify the results of an election.

Glaze said the function was only ministerial and that a mandamus action in court could force the commission to certify the election.

Results of the general election in the treasurer's race and in six aldermen's races were disputed because the names of all the candidates did not appear on all the ballots.

Mansfield is astride the Sebastian-Scott county line.

Scott County's ballots were prepared without the names of the persons who filed only in Sebastian County and were distributed to election workers in the first ward. Sebastian County sent ballots including all the candidates' names to the ward on the morning of the election, but the election officials did not use them.

Those who filed in both counties won in each case and their opponents protested to the Sebastian County Election Commission, which voided the election.

The opinion went to state Rep. Van B. Taylor of Waldron, attorney for the seven candidates who filed in both counties.

Arkansas Killed In Road Crash

SPRINGDALE, Ark. (AP) - John Edward Snoderly, 21, of Garfield (Benton County) died early this morning at a Springfield hospital of injuries he received less than 90 minutes earlier in a one-car accident on U.S. 71 inside the Lowell city limits.

State Police said the accident occurred when Snoderly attempted to pass another vehicle and lost control of his car. Officers said Snoderly's car struck a tree.

Lovell is located about eight miles northwest of Springfield.

Apollo 8 Splashes Down Safely After Epochal Moon Flight

Landing on Moon Next Objective

By JIM STROTHMAN
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) - Apollo 8's trail-blazing flight around the moon has given space planners a firm foothold to try for a moon landing in the next few months - maybe April or May.

One major piece of Apollo hardware still remains to be qualified, the lunar module spacecraft that will taxi future astronauts from a three-man Apollo craft in lunar orbit to the moon's surface.

That four-legged lunar lander is to get its first manned space test about Feb. 20 during America's next three-man mission, Apollo 9.

If the lunar module performs perfectly in earth orbit on Apollo 9, astronauts conceivably could land on the moon on the following flight, Apollo 10, in April or May.

Present plans for Apollo 10 - to be flown by a three-man crew headed by veteran astronaut Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford - call for the pilots to fly a moon orbit mission in which the lunar module separates from a three-man Apollo spaceship and approaches within 10 miles of the surface, but does not land.

"Our present plans are to not commit Apollo 10 for a landing," said Air Force Lt. Gen. Samuel C. Phillips, Apollo program director. However, "We might want to exercise a more ambitious option," he noted, as was done when the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) decided to send Apollo 8 around the moon.

The first lunar landing mission is now expected by Apollo 11, next May or June. Astronauts have not yet been assigned for that flight.

The particular lunar module assigned to Apollo 10 does not have fuel tanks with enough capacity and weight too much for a lunar landing. So if a decision is made to fly the Apollo 10 crew to the moon's surface, another lunar module would have to be assigned to the mission, Phillips pointed out.

Television will continue to be an important factor in the space flights.

Thursday it gave a glimpse of three explorers returning home as the last of six scheduled TV broadcasts from Apollo 8 was made at an altitude of 112,000 miles. It showed the sunlit side of the earth, including North and South America, covered by numerous clouds.

Apollo 8 television is completed, as Borman told earthlings: "Stay tuned in."

What It Means

Additional dispatches on the ending of the Apollo 8 flight will be found on Page 2 of today's edition.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) - Apollo 8 brought to earth today an achievement record including these firsts:

- It demonstrated the Saturn 5 rocket can launch men safely to the moon.

- It reassured space officials of the safety of the spaceship, redesigned after three astronauts died in a spacecraft fire in 1967.

- It proved the pinpoint accuracy of guidance and navigation systems and of good quality two-way voice communication at lunar distances.

- It showed spacemen can navigate to specific moon landing sites using lunar landmarks.

- It sent good television pictures from lunar orbit and from points in space between moon and earth.

Apollo 8's Re-Entry Is Fantastic

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Science Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) - Apollo 8's homeward plunge today ranks as the hottest, fastest, scariest re-entry yet - and the first time U.S. astronauts have landed in darkness.

It called for at least 45 minutes of bobbing in dark Pacific waters waiting for sunrise.

It meant smashing into the earth's atmosphere at 24,500 miles per hour - the fastest of any re-entry for men to date.

It meant a blazing fire come around the spaceship's heat shield - temperatures up to 5,000 degrees - the hottest of any re-entry for men to date.

It also meant re-entering the earth's atmosphere for the first time without firing braking rockets to slow the spaceship. It traded instead on gravity and the earth's blanket of air to do the job.

That, in itself, set up some risky circumstances, less margin for error in speed, flight angle and spacecraft attitude than any manned spaceship to date.

Hitting the earth's atmosphere at too slight an angle would send the spaceship skipping out of the atmosphere in a wild orbit that could be fatal.

Hitting the earth's atmosphere at too steep an angle would build up gravity forces in the slowdown that could shake a spacecraft apart.

Apollo officials were confident that the spaceship's flight path was so perfect, the risks were minimal.

At the same time, officials provided a greater area for un-

Touchdown in Pacific SW Hawaii

ABOARD USS YORKTOWN (AP) - Climaxing a magnificent space odyssey, the Apollo 8 moon explorers came home from the heavens today, blazing back through the earth's atmosphere to a parachute landing in a darkened Pacific Ocean.

America's newest space heroes ended man's greatest space adventure and one of history's most momentous explorations when their six-ton spaceship dropped into a gently rolling sea about 1,100 miles southwest of Hawaii.

Like everything else on this incredible flight, the landing was almost pinpoint - an estimated 5,000 yards from the main recovery carrier, the Yorktown.

Mission Control said the Yorktown had confirmed the 5,000-yard distance and that the ship reported receiving radio messages from the astronauts as they bobbed in the water.

The conversation, from Air Force Col. Frank Borman, was mainly concerned with the post-landing check list.

The astronauts hit the water at 10:50 a.m. EST.

They are the first U.S. astronauts to land in darkness. It was 4:50 a.m. local time, about an hour before dawn and 45 minutes before first light.

Unless there were an emergency, frogmen did not plan to deploy from the helicopter until first light, leaving the astronauts to wait out the recovery in their floating craft.

The astronauts climbed into a life raft and were hoisted aboard a helicopter 80 minutes after landing. They were ferried quickly to the carrier, which had steamed toward the scene from the moment of touchdown.

With a beautiful dawn breaking over the Pacific, Borman, Lovell and Anders were deposited on the carrier deck at 12:20 p.m. EST.

Hundreds of sailors cheered and snapped pictures as the bearded adventurers stepped on deck and strolled a bit uneasily across a red carpet rolled out for the occasion.

The astronauts were dressed in white flight suits, into which they had changed while waiting for recovery.

They smiled and waved to acknowledge the cheers of the sailors.

Borman stepped to a microphone and thanked
